Supporting Information to:

Steroidal Alkaloids from Veratrnum japonicum with Genotoxicity on Brain Cell DNA of the Cerebellum and Cerebral Cortex in Mice

Yue Cong¹
Lei Guo²
Jing-Yu Yang²
Ling Li²
Yu-Bo Zhou³
Jing Chen³
Jin-Hui Wang³,⁴*

Affiliation

¹ Institute of Traditional Chinese Medica, School of Pharmacy, Henan University, Kaifeng, P. R. China
² School of Life Science and Biological Pharmacy, Shenyang Pharmaceutical University, Shenyang, P. R. China
³ School of Taditional Chinese Materia Medica, Shenyang Pharmaceutical University, Shenyang, P. R. China
⁴ Shihezi University, Shihezi, P. R. China

Correspondence

Dr. Jin-Hui Wang
School of Traditional Chinese Materia Medica
Shenyang Pharmaceutical University
LiaoNing
Shenyang 110016
People’s Republic of China
Phone: +86-24-2398-6478
E-mail: Wjh.1972@yahoo.com.cn
Fig. 1S Effect of compound 4 at the concentration of 2.0 mg/kg/day for 7 days by gavage on brain cells DNA strand breaks in the cerebellum and cerebral cortex of mice. On gel electrophoresis under alkaline conditions, damaged DNA is released from the nucleus, forming a comet “head” and “tail”.
Fig. 2S $^1$H-NMR spectrum of 1.